Hey Dude

I am sending you this as it pertains to our conversation this morning, regarding the overview for Sunday

As I mentioned, I will maintain this overview for the first Sunday of every month, with the exception of the first Sunday in September.
I will give you all of my dates shortly!

Regarding the overview, I think that your key decisions are:

1. When I (Joel) am planning a service, will I be responsible for the entire overview as the pastor, leading and speaking
2. If I am giving someone the speaking slot, will it just be that slot or will they be responsible for the overview as well.
(Because we are developing Daniel, I think this would be good for him)
3. When you give the speaking slot to others, will you incorporate others to do the welcome, announcement and offering slot, or will they do the welcome and announcement and you do the offering and then introduce the speaker.

My preference during this time of transition is that you either have the overview which includes you speaking, or you have the overview and someone else speaks, this way you maintain visibility and people just get used to you introducing them, and then handing the mic back to you.

I not saying don't use other service leaders, I am just saying we need to increase role visibility

I hope this makes sense ?
